Boy Injured

BY RIFLE BULLET

Fell While Hunting And Rifle Discharged. Wound Not Dangerous

George Tidsbury, Constable Tidsbury's son, is laid up for a few days with a bullet wound in his hand. Along with a couple of other lads from town George was out shooting, five miles east of Strathcona. In chasin gthrough the bush he fell over a stump and the rifle, a 22 calibre, went off. The bullet went into the palm of thel eft hand ,but did not go all the way through and had to be extracted. The wound is painful but not at all dangerous.

Medical Council Want Election Of Officers Investigated

A meeting of the medical men of District No. 1., was held in the council chamberl ast night to consider certain matters arising out of the recent elections to the medical council of Alberta. After a warm debate a motion was carried asking for a full investigation int othe legality of the elections. The ground of complaint raised, was that the registrar at Calgary voted three ballots by proxy. The ballots were sent to him duly signed by the voters but without the name of the candidates t obe voted for. The registrar claims he has the power to vote in this manner.

Legal proceedings have already been taekn by Dr. Clendenan to test the legality of the registrar's act.

The Building Record

SURPASSES PREVIOUS RECORDS

All Previous Highwater Marks Surpassed To-day At The Inspector's Office

The building records for the month of October up until noon today total $256,848, breaking all previous records for the city of Edmonton and promising a high-water mark not exceeded by half a dozen cities in Canada.

The plans for the telephone building, $22,000, which were filed yesterday and the permit for John Walter's mill, $15,000 and boarding house $4,000, registered yesterday afternoon carried the total past the highest mark heretofore established.

The contract for the foundation for the new Alex Taylor school, which is to be built in the east end between the Jasper avenue extension and the river bank, has been let to James McAllister and work is now under way. The intention is to get the foundation in this fall so that an early start can be made next spring on the main construction.

The Convention

CLOSED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Officers Elected. Teachers Urge Establishment Of Provincial University

The tenth annual convention of the teachers association of Northern Alberta was concluded yesterday afternoon. In point of attendance the convention surpassed all former years. About one hundred and thirty delegates attended, and the general verdict was that the convention was the most successful in the history of the association.

The convention next year will be held in Edmonton. The following were elected officers for this year.

President, J. McCaig, B.A., Supt. City Schools, Edmonton; 1st vice president, R. A. Fyfe, B.A.; Edmonton; 2nd vice president, A. H. F. Martin, Bon Accord 3rd vice president, Miss Boyle, Edmonton; secretary-treasurer, Miss Martin, Edmonton

The resolution committee submitted a number of resolutions, but only the one relating to the establishment of a provincial university was carried. The resolution reads as follows:

"Resolved, that in the opinion of the teachers of Northern Alberta, in annual convention assembled, that it is expedient on the part of our provincial government;

1. To inaugurate as soon as possible a provincial university to answer present demands for an institution above secondary schools as well as to create and foster a taste for higher education.

2. To make immediate provision for adequate revenue for a university by securing a liberal allotment of lands for that purpose.

3 It is further resolved that in the opinion of this body such departments as answer closely to immediate needs such as scientific agriculture, mining, civil and railway engineering, should be those first established.

Papers given yesterday were of unusual interest and were discussed even more freely than those on the previous day. Mr. Fyfe, of the Edmonton high school, gave a very instructive and interesting paper on the geological development of North America, tracing the growth of the continent from the Archaean to the closing periods of the tertiary and post glacial age.

Mr. Hogan, of St. Leon, taught an exhibition lesson with a class of small children on the subject "Forms of Water."

A paper by J. E. Campbell, Leduc, on "Material and Method in Composition" elicited possibly the most instructive and active discussion of the whole convention. The point raised was whether it is best to prepare an essay after a plan or not. Mr. Campbell advocated formulating a plan. For material for composition Mr. Campbell was in favor of going to other subjects such as history and nature study.

THE BUCKINGHAM INQUEST.
(Bulletin Special.)

Buckingham, Que., Oct. 27—The inquest on the bodies of the dead strikers, Belanger and Therault, commenced at Buckingham this morning. J. P. Clement, striker, swore that Belanger did not have a revolver and that Alex. McLaren fired the shot which killed Belanger. He was positive the police fired the first shot. Louis Landry, in whose rig the rifles were found, said he did not know the names of the men who had the rifles. He is secretary of the union and said the strikers' rifles were not loaded, being designed as a bluff to frighten non-unionists.

Four Survivors

FROM THE SKAGIT WRECK

One Of The Crew Gave His Life Trying To Save The Captain

(Bulletin Special.)

Victoria, Oct. 27—The steamer Salver returned this evening from Cloose, the scene of the Skagit wreck, reporting the barquentine rapidly breaking up. The vessel landed here eight survivors of the disaster. Colored Pete is admitted to be the hero of the occasion, giving his life in a vain attempt to save Capt. Rose, who was well advanced in years. His body was recovered and brought by the Salver for burial here.

WILLIAM SUGARMAN

Mr. Sugarman, one of the leading outfitters in the city of Edmonton, was born at Montreal, Dec. 17th, 1876, and received his education at the Upper Canada College. Upon its completion, he entered into his father's business at Berlin, Ont., and remained there for 7 years. In 1902 Mr. Sugarman came west, locating at Edmonton, and built up one of the largest and most successful businesses in his particular line.

Last spring he disposed of his interest in tnat business, and opened his present commodious establishment, and is now commanding a very large share of busy Edmonton trade. As is evidenced by his up-to-date methods, Mr. Sugarman's commercial training has been most thorough. Mr. Sugarman is a firm believer in the medium of the press for advertising.

NORTHERN MAILS

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—The post office department has arranged for a special mail service at Fort Resolution, Fort McPherson and intermediate points. The mail will leave Edmonton on November 29 for Fort McMurray or Fort McKay and all points on the McKenzie River, including Fort Chippewayan, Smith Landing, Fort Smith, Providence, Smithson, Wrigley, Norman, Good Hope and McPherson. A second mail will leave Edmonton early in February for Fort McMurray and points as far north as Fort Resolution. It is necessary to limit the mail matter for these dispatches to letters only.

SHAREHOLDERS MAY FIGHT

Toronto, Oct. 26.—C. Goode, a local grain merchant, is heading the movement of the Ontario Bank shareholders to put up a fight for their rights, which he considers were literally thrown away by the directors of the bank. He wants all the shareholders to join him in a campaign and a number of holders of large blocks of stock are now backing him up.

The $13,60,000 in deposits drawing 3 per cent., has been let out at six per cent., which means a quarter profit of $20,000 in one month. The business good will was worth $500,000, said Mr. Goode.

Young Man Shot

AT WHITE WHALE LAKE

George Holmes, A Young Englishman, The Victim Of An Accident

George Holmes, a young Englishman who has not been long in Alberta, was shot and seriously, although not fatally injured at White Whale Lake yesterday afternoon while out duck shooting. News of the accident was received by his brother here this morning in a message sent in via St. Albert. No details have yet been received. The brother, who is an employee of the Union Meat market, First street, went out this morning with a carriage and a doctor to bring the unfortunate lad in.

Did Not Unite

CONVENTION AT RED DEER

Delegates From Farmers' Societies Fail To Find Basis For Union

Delegates representing the Alberta Farmers' Association and the American Society of Equity, Alberta branch, met in Lacombe on Thursday and Friday of this week to discuss the possibility of amalgamating the two societies. The representatives of the bodies met in separate convention and afterward in general assembly, but no basis of union was agreed upon and the societies remain separate.

WANTED TO BE JAILED.

London, Oct. 27—Ten women suffragistsw efragists were arrested yesterday for rioting within the precincts of the house of commons. They were arraigned in the police court today and were bound over to keep the peace for six months.

Such a common outcome of the affair did not meet the views of the suffragists, who apparently decided to assume the role of martyrs by being committed to jail.

When the magistrate announced his decision a great uproar broke out in the courtroom and ultimately the women had to be removed by force. Some of them literally were thrown out among the crowds waiting outside the building.

VERMILION WEDDING.

Vermilion, October 25—Mr. C. E. Henry, one of the leading business men of the town, was yesterday afternoon married to Miss C. E. Harmston. The ceremony was performed at Powell's ranch by the Rev. A. R. Aldridge. The newly married couple held a reception last evening in Craig's Hall. This was followed by a dance, and was attended by a large number of residents of the town and also by several visitors from Mannville and Islay. Mr. and Mrs. Henry leave on tonight's train for a short trip and intend to make a trip to the east this winter.

HELD UP THE SCHOOL

Fort William, Oct. 26.—"Stand up hold up your hands high over your heads," were the words spoken by twelve year old John Morrow, an Italian boy, yesterday afternoon to some fifty scholars in Ward One school. The lad produced a 32-calibre revolver from his pant's pocket, aimed it at the teacher, and flourished it about the room. Consternation reigned. The children screamed, while the teacher hurled from the room for assistance. The pistol was found by the caretaker concealed in the lining of the would-be-bandit's trousers. It proved to be an automatic revolver and contained six cartridges. The boy had been reading dime novels.

RUSSIAN WHEAT CROP

Washington, Oct. 18.—Russia is the chief competitor of the United States and Canada in the wheat markets of Europe and the conditions under which wheat is grown in that country, as indicating the cost of production and prospective export supply are the subject of a brochure soon to be issued from the division of foreign markets of the department of agriculture. Bread cereals have always been the mainstay of Russian agriculture. They claim over seventy-five per cent of all cultivated land crops, as against twenty-per cent. in the United States. But forty years ago the share of wheat in Russia was small in comparison with that of rye, the Russian staple. Since the Russian land tiller began to produce for foreign markets, the strong demand for wheat has had its effect.

During the last twenty-five years the acreage under rye in European Russia has remained about 65,000,000 acres, while the acreage under wheat has increased from 29,000,000 to 46,000,000. Taking the entire Russian empire, the acreage under rye has increased from 70,000,000 acres in 1894 to 74,000,000 in 1904, while that under wheat has increased from 41,000,000 acres to 59,200,000 acres. Of the immense territory of Russia, the wheat belt occupies a comparatively small share. There is very little wheat grown beyond the southern and eastern parts of the famous black soil region. Eight provinces in the south and southeast contain seventy per cent of the wheat acreage of all Russia. Caucasia has about 12 1-2 per cent, and Siberia about six per cent.

In the wheat belt proper, wheat is rapidly crowding out almost everything else. In New Russia, in the lower Volga provinces, and in Northern Caucasia, from one half to two-thirds of all cultivated land was under wheat in 1904. Here the most rapid extension of wheat acreage has taken place, namely 7,800,000 acres in twenty-three years in new Russia and in the lower Volga provinces 4,800,000. The Russian wheat crop has increased from 400,000,000 bushels in 1886-1898 to 630,000,000 in 1902-1904. The wheat area is over ten million acres larger than that of the United States and in 1903 and 1904 the Russian crop exceeded that of this country. Nevertheless, the crop is small when the acreage is considered, the average yield of wheat per acre in Russia being the lowest of all important wheat growing countries. The explanation of the low yields is found in defective agricultural methods and unavoidable climatic conditions. The communal ownership of the peasants' lands which obtains in four-fifths of rural Russia, has also interfered materially with agricultural progress by the ever-present danger of redistribution, and consequent lack of security of ownership. Inclusive of the rent, the cost of production, of wheat ranges from fifty-five to eighty cents a bushel.

The future of wheat production in this empire depends largely upon economic conditions, and the educational progress of the peasants. Forty years ago the Russian peasantry was uniformly illiterate, and today about forty per cent are illiterate. In the younger generation, however the proportion of literacy is somewhat higher.

Modern machinery is rarely used even on large estates, where by the way, it is customary to hire the peasant with his live stock and his crude implements. Laborers are hired for $62 to $70 a year in addition to their food, which is of the coarsest and does not exceed $25 a year. A female agricultural laborer gets only $12 to $20 a year. Even at harvest time the average wages of a man with a horse in the wheat belt are only 60 cents a day, of a man alone 34 cents without board, and of a female worker 22 cents. At other times the wages are correspondingly lower.

THE PEACE RIVER WHEAT BELT

Fort Vermilion, Oct. 10.—The time is not far distant, indeed it might be said that it is here, when the stream of homeseekers, who yearly invade the west, will have to turn its course from the west, will have to turn its course from the west to the north. The last Great West is nearly gone and it is to the still greater north that the pioneer will shortly have to turn his face. During the last summer, more than one party have explored the banks of the Athabasca and Little Slave Rivers, of the Peace and the Smoky, and even as far as the Grand Prairie and Spirit Rivers with a view of becoming settlers. Their favorable reports have proved without doubt the suitability of these sections for farming, and doubtless before long, many will be taking their way northwards.

But it is not of these places that I would write. Three hundred miles down the Peace River from the crossing is a little settlement which stands in a position almost unique in the history of the west. (A settlement which, owing to its being somewhat inaccessible, the landseeker has not yet penetrated, and of which the reports are vague and contradictory. I refer to Fort Vermilion. It is characteristic of the old pioneers, that, passing over hundreds of miles of splendid prairie, leaving behind them civilization and wealth, they should push through to what may be regarded as the northern boundary of the wheat producing country. Now the time is coming when their judgment will be vindicated and the last will prove to be the best.

It is over twenty yyears since Mr. Lawrence engaged in missionary work in the district, first attempted to grow grain at this northern post, and it is to two generations of Lawrences that the credit of bringing Vermilion to what it is and of demonstrating its capabilities to the outside world is mainly due. From one little half acre patch twenty years ago, the crop will this year amount to between twenty and thirty thousand bushels of first class wheat. Instead of one small separator, there are two stone mills on efirst class roller mill, three sawmills and three threshing outfits. And this in spite of the immense difficulties of transportation and practically without the influx of any outside population. But the next few years will mark a new era in the history of Vermilion. Already with wagon roads cut by the government, giving overland communication with the Peace River, and the steamboat service of the H. B. Co. on the river itself, the transportation problem is made vastly easier; and when, in the course of a year or two a transcontinental railway taps the Peace river, the problem will not only be solved, but Vermilion will find itself changed from a humble little settlement, into a farming community enjoying advantages possessed by no other in the west. For lying as it does, on the extreme north of the wheat bearing belt, it will bee able to supply the whole northern trade, which takes many thousand bushels, while also being in a position to ship any surplus produce to the east.

I have heard it remarked that this district is too far north for wheat to be a reliable crop. But strange as it may appear itt is this very fact which makes it, as it will prove to be, the best wheat producing district in Alberta and for this reason: During the months of June and July there is no night; the sun dips below the horizon, and before the red glow of the sunset has disappeared in the west, the flush of dawn has appeared in the east; while the wheat crop of the south is resting during the long cool nights, that of the north is growing, growing, growing. What does it matter if the season is short, when the sun shines 23 hours out of the 24? What does it matter if the country is subject to frosts in the latter part of August, when wheat matures in eighty-six to ninety days, and is ready to cut on the last day of July?

The wheat grown at present is the Ladoza, a bearded variety, but I saw a strip of Red Fife this summer grown by Mr. Fred Lawrence, which matured under ninety days, and there is no reason why the hard wheat cannot be grown as easily as the soft.

Another drawback which I have heard mentioned is that there is too much bush. Bush there certainly is, and plenty of it, but it is an advantage rather than a drawback. Building material is there for generations of settlers and firewood for just as long. The spruce forests will keep sawmills employed and supply the south with lumber for all time. The pioneer settlers of the east thought nothing of hewing a homestead out of a hardwood forest; surely their sons have more grit than to be deterred by the soft poplar bluffs of the north. Still for those who will have prairie, prairie there is, and many square miles of it, prairies of peace river belt continued rich black loam which will grow anything under the sun.

Of course such a country has its drawbacks, we cannot expect to find perfection here below. That very absence of cool nights which forces the wheat along so wonderfully is no doubt very detrimental to the stock. The flies torment cattle and horses day and night during the summer months, and horses need to be stabled and fed if they are required to work. Cattle do not fatten so early as in the south, but in the fall they quickly make up for lost time, and feeding on the luxuriant growth of pea vine, become hogfat long before the winter sets in.

Give Vermilion transportation facilities; give her good stordy farmers of the kind who, having put their hand to the plow do not look back; give her good stock, both man and beast, and there is nothing to prevent her becoming the foremost agricultural district of the west.

Talks on Orange Meat

(THE PURE FOOD) No. 1

Canadian from field to table.

ORANGE MEAT is made from the best wheat grown in Canada. That's the reason why it is the best cereal in the world. From the Western wheat fields, it is brought by rail and lake right to our elevators at Kingston. Then our experts cook, malt and toast it changing wheat starch to wheat sugars. From the time it enters our elevators as wheat—until it comes on your table as ORANGE MEAT—it is never touched by human hands. The wheat is entirely handled by machinery. It is a Canadian cereal—perfected by Canadians—to build up the health and delight the appetite of Canadians.

ORANGE MEAT contains all the body, brain and vigor building elements of wheat. Analysis shows that ORANGE MEAT contains more wheat sugars than any other cereal.

It's not merely "something good to eat." It is a perfect FOOD. It contains the whole wheat—the outer shell omitted from flour and the wheat germ which supplies Phosphorus to the nerves and brain. ORANGE MEAT weighs ⅓ more than any other package.

Your grocer has ORANGE MEAT in 15c. and 25c. packages. 15c. size contains coupons good for new premiums. 25c. size contains 2½ times the 15c. quantity. Write "Orange Meat, Kingston", for new premium catalogue.

BULLETIN CO., Ltd.,

DUNCAN MARSHALL, Manager.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1906.

AT IT EARLY

The Journal has begun the manufacture of fiction early in the Gleichen campaign. This morning's issue contains the following:

Gleichen, Oct. 23—The Hon. W. H. Cushing, accompanied by Duncan Marshall and A. M. Parken, arrived here this afternoon; and this evening were tendered a banquet, at which some dozen Liberals were present.

Some ill feeling has been aroused here on account of only the best of the reform party being invited to attend.

Duncan Marshall was at Gleichen on the 23rd, but he had to read the Journal to learn of the alleged banquet. That evening he had his supper with his old time friend and neighbor from Bruce, Mr. John McEwen, which is the only meal he had in Gleichen, and if a few of the Liberals of the town want in to supper with Mr. Cushing, surely he is not required to deny himself their company.

It does seem a pity that some newspapers do not care for the facts or the truth when they are out to make capital of any kind for their party.

ONSLAUGHTS ON THE JUDGES.

The supreme court having decided the Sinclair election appeal in a manner other than Conservative journals desired, some of these publications have assailed the court in a manner which in plain language amounts to an accusation of partiality. This is not the first time of late these organs have committed a similar offence and the time has about arrived when something should be done to effectually safeguard the dignity of the bench from the partisan who sees in every adverse decision, an evidence of partiality and a license for scandal.

The liberty of the press is one thing and the license of the press to peddle scandal is quite another. The former is the bulwark of the state, the latter is the greatest menace to the civilization of the twentieth century. And when this weapon is levelled at the courts it becomes both a disintegrating force working for the destruction of public confidence in the institution by which the private rights of the citizen are safeguarded, and a Damocles' sword held over the heads of the man whose business it is to safeguard those rights by administering justice. Given an impartial judiciary nothing is better calculated to destroy its character of impartiality than the knowledge that if its judgments are adverse to certain interests the judges will be pilloried by a section of the public press as having stultified their integrity and perverted their power through improper motives. To create such understanding is to threaten with a species of blackmail the judge who dares follow his convictions to a conclusion at variance with the wishes of the journalistic bandits. The certainty and the fury with which every such judgment of late has been assailed is evidence that these brigands understand the use of their weapon and looks very much as though they were deliberately directing it in an effort to bully and intimidate the judges of the supreme court.

It does not appear to have occurred to these traducers that if the motives of the judiciary were what they persistently insinuate them to be that these criticisms would be suddenly terminated and the authors afforded an opportunity to reflect in seclusion on the error of their ways. That they are still able to continue their onslaughts is due to the clemency of the judges they assail, a clemency in itself sufficient proof of the character of the judges and the falsity of their assailants, but which in the interests of a proper public regard for the judicial system and its officers should not be without its limits.

THE MARKET FOR MUNICIPAL BONDS.

A press despatch regarding the inquiry of the Insurance Commission into the affairs of the Sun Life Insurance Co. at Montreal says; "The actuary of the company could find no expression too strong to express his admiration for the investment qualities of the Traction stocks. This brought the enquiry from Mr. Langmuir as to whether municipal debentures were not the very safest and best of investments and elicited from Mr. McAuley the reply that interest was low and there had been trouble with some investments in securities of this character."

Financiers have made references along somewhat similar lines on several occasions of late and the general manager of one of the leading Canadian banks took occasion on a recent visit to Edmonton to point out the danger of glutting the market with municipal securities.

The capital seeking investment in municipal bonds he pointed out is comparatively small and the more bonds offered for sale the less favorable the terms on which a city issuing such bonds can sell them.

That municipal bonds are sought less eagerly by investors than corporation bonds is quite true and perfectly natural, for the simple reason that the corporations holds out the promise of larger returns than a municipality is prepared to pay. Against the attraction of the larger dividends offered by the private enterprise the municipality offers that of greater security for the investment.

The two classes of bonds appeal therefore to two practically distinct classes of investors; the corporation bonds to those who for the hope of larger dividends are prepared to accept security less secure; th municipal bonds to those who demand as the first consideration the best security procurable.

But the proportion of these two classes of investors varies with the ebb and flow of the commercial tide. When "times are dull," when business is stagnant and failures frequent the capitalist becomes chary and regardless of the dividends in prospect will risk his money only when the security is unquestionable. In such years a city can borrow money where corporations may not be able to sell their bonds, simply because of the greater security of the investment. But when "times are good," when business of all kinds is active, when failures are few, when factories are running overtime and enterprises of all kinds are paying handsome dividends the spirit of optimism comes into play even among the money lenders and confident of the general progress they are likely to regard the larger rewards of the commercial undertakings other than the smaller returns but safer investment offered by municipal borrowers.

The present period of prosperity in Canada is being shared fully by owners of capital. Those who have invested their money in company bonds or loaned it to commercial concerns have found their security unquestioned and their rewards much larger than the interest they would have received from municipal debentures. More than this the time is one of strenuous commercial expansion. The great west is beginning to assert its latent energies and every commercial enterprise is straining to cope with the broader opportunities opening before it. The demand for capital with which to extend established concerns and found new ones is practically unlimited and with the profits, business houses show for the money already invested it would be remarkable indeed if investors were not found willing to invest more money in them. Under such circumstances the capital looking primarily for unquestionable security as against large returns is at the minimum and Canadian municipalities need not wonder if their preferred bonds find few purchasers. It would be strange if it were otherwise for the fact that money cannot be borrowed for small returns on good security is evidence that the money is making large returns on security also considered good. The prosperity of Canadian capitalists is attested by the fact that Canadian municipal bonds are not at present an object of peculiar attraction to them

A Range That Burns All the Coal

MOST likely you have been throwing away good coal every day without knowing it.

Coal that is only partially burned in the fire-box.

Because, with the ordinary range draft, the air current only strikes part of the fire.

Usually the damper door on such a range is situated at one end of the fire-box, which makes your fire hot at the draft end and cold at the other end.

Or the damper is perhaps on the left side of the stove, which makes an uneven fire for the same reason.

You are not only losing fuel, but your cooking and baking is unsatisfactory, for you cannot get a uniform heat.

Now, the draft in a Monarch Range is entirely different.

Instead of one damper door, there are two, one in each end of the fire-box.

These form a double or Duplex Draft, and both are regulated by the same handle.

So you get two direct currents of air at the same time, and your fire burns smoothly and evenly.

You open both drafts simultaneously and shut them off the same way.

The draft striking the fire from both directions consumes all the fuel, and gives you all the heating power from the coal.

When you empty the ash-pan in a Monarch Range, you are throwing away ashes—and ashes only—not coal.

And in addition to this, the Monarch is constructed of Steel and Malleable Iron, which can be riveted so tight and solid that no air-leaks can possibly happen as they do in cast iron ranges.

Monarch MALLEABLE The Stay Satisfactory Range

The top is Malleable Iron, polished and bright. You can keep it clean without smearing your range with blacking which gets on the cooking vessels, to make more work for you.

A $1.00 Cook Book Free

The Monarch Cook Book, written by Mrs. Helen Mar Thomson, an acknowledged authority on domestic science is a Real Book, not a cheap circular, 244 pages bound in cloth on board covers—a book that would cost $1.00 at the book stores.

It contains 588 recipes, many of them new, all simple, easy to make and inexpensive.

Has practical menus for the whole year and many valuable hints on diet and marketing.

You can get it without cost if you intend buying a range or cook-stove within a year.

HOW TO GET IT. Cut out this advertisement, mail it to the Malleable Iron Range Company, Beaver Dam, Wis., and tell them WHEN (stating month if possible) you expect to buy and you will secure this valuable book free. As the edition is limited, write now.

Peace River Crops Good

Wheat Brings $1.50 a Bushel at Fort Vermillion. Chipewayan Marsh Becomes Hayfield By Lowering Of Water In Athabasca. Settlers Going Into Grand Prairie.

Thos. Kelly, master of the Hudson's Bay Co. steamer Graham plying between Fort McMurray on the Athabasca and Fort Smith on the Great Slave River is in the city, having returned from the north after tying the big steamer up for the winter.

Mr. Kelly came in by Peace River Crossing and Lesser Slave Lake. He was accompanied by 17 of a party among whom were Privates McCullough, Darby, McDonald and Berry who have been working for 18 months on the Atlin trail, which is being built by the Canadian Government from Fort St. John on the Peace River to the Atlin gold camp in British Columbia.

There were 17 in the party who came down with Mr. Kelly, including Mr. Thompson of the Hudson's Bay Co.'s staff, who is on his way to Ireland, a son of Mr. Harvey who will attend the Mackay avenue school here during the winter, two sons of Dr. West, Mounted Police surgeon of the Lesser Slave Lake District, who will also attend school in the city and Rev. A. S. White and his niece, who left yesterday on their way to the Old Country for the winter.

Dr. Genest ,who went up to Peace River with the intention of going to Fort Graham for the winter to act as surgeon for the Mounted Police detachment cutting the trail, came as far as Lesser Slave Lake and will winter there. He could not get up to Fort Graham as there were no horses at Fort Good Hope to go over the mountains with and no boats on the other side with which to get up the Finlay River. Superintendent Constantine was also unable to get through and will winter at Lesser Slave Lake, going over the range in the spring. There are 40 policemen working on the trail and they have 200 miles of the trail cut from Fort Good Hope.

Mr. Kelly reports that crops in the ePace River country were excellent this year. About 10,000 bushels of wheat were grown at Peace River crossing and another 10,000 at Fort Vermilion. Wheat is selling at the Crossing and another 10,000 at Fort Brick the member for Peace River marketed 1,000 bushels at that price which was shipped down the river to Vermilion to be milled. At Vermilion the crop was unusually heavy and the cash price was $1.50 a bushel. The H.B. Co.'s mill will handle most of the grain, milling it up for shipment to the north. The season has been an excellent one in every respect. When Mr. Kelly left the Crossing on Oct 2nd there had been no frost and delicate flowers such as pansies were in bloom outside.

The water has been very low all season and navigation has been extremely difficult and hazardous, especially on the Lower Peace. At Rapid Au Boyer, 150 miles below the Vermillion chutes, where a limestone dyke crosses the river, the water is very shallow and the Graham just managed to get over the dyke.

The water is also low at the Athabasca, Athabasca Lake , Great Slave Lake and all the way down the Mackenzie, registering as much as seven feet below the former low-water level. At Fort Chipewayan, the big flats at the north of the Athabasca river,(which through all history have been marsh, the home of myriads of water fowl, are now prairie and the grass is growing six feet high. These flats are 30 or 40 miles long and 15 or 20 miles wide and make a piece of pasture land second to none in the known world. The Hudson's Bay Co. shipped down 16 head of cattle to Chipewayan this year and turned them out in the long grass. When the company employees went out to find them the cattle were sleek and fat and so wild that they could not be caught. Pursuing them on horse back was found impossible on account of the luxuriant tangle of wild grass, and so they turned out and had a regular buffalo hunt, shooting the cattle in the open. Mr. Kelly predicts that the Chipewayan flats will some day be a great cattle ranching country..

On the way out they met several parties of settlers going into the Peace River country, most of them bound for the Grand Prairie country via Lesser Slave Lake and Peace River Crossing. A party of Dominion surveyors are subdividing and laying out section lines at Prairie Creek on the south side of Lesser Slave Lake, which is discribed as one of the finest farming countries in the north. Another party is surveying at Vermilion ,where Mr. Sencire is adjusting settlers' claims prior to throwing the country open for homesteading and a third party is working at Peace River Crossing. Mr. Kelly looks forward to the day when another big city will be built on the Peace River.

ITALIAN COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Calgary, Oct. 24.—At the barracks this morning Frank Maisano was bound over to appear for trial before the supreme court, which willl be held here next month, commencing Nov. 6.

Maisano is charged with assaulting J. Hewett, of Cochrane, with a knife, thereby causing grievous bodily harm to Hewitt.

Dr. MacKid testified as to the number and seriousness of the wounds on Hewett's body.

He said Hewet was now convalescent and would be able to work in a month.

PROVINCIAL PUBLIC WORKS.

Olds Gazette: With regard to the public works department of Alberta he said the majority of the people hardly seemed to realize that the proposition they were up against. All over the country the inhabitants were clamoring for roads and bridges. Some of them he knew were badly wanted, and the department was doing the necessary improvements as fast as they could in the districts that needed them first. He hoped by the end of the year to be able to go over most of the province and see for himself where the money could be spent to the best advantage. He alluded to the scarcity of labor this fall as also a drawback, as the department allll has a lot of money unspent owing to their being unable to get men. The province being of such vast extent and the conditions changing so rapidly, owing to new railways coming in it required considerable judgment in making roads and bridges so that they could be used to the best advantage.

Hon. Mr. Cushing thought that it would be much better for the country if the power of spending money for public improvements was taken from the local improvement councils, and the whole thing left in the hands of the government. He alluded to the fact that the rate of taxation by the local councils could be anywhere from $2 to $8 a quarter section, and that those councils which taxed themselves the lowest were demanding the most from the government. The department would conclude that the men who taxed themselves the highest and were willing to pay it, were most in need of help and accordingly they got it, while those who were only willing to pay the minimum tax ought not to complain if they were overlooked. It was a case of the government helping those who helped themselves.

Mr. Cushing said that the limits of the province stretched for four hundred miles north of Edmonton, very little of which was opened up. The government expected a large immigration next spring and were preparing to cope with it.

It It was pointed out to the minister the necessity of more roads and bridges around here, particularly the road to Sandstone, and the bridge in the Lacombe district, and he promised that our wants here should receive the attention of the department and that some of it at least would be grant d.

Dominion Forest Reserves

(The Canadain Forestry Journal.)

The establishment of a number of forest reserve upon Dominion lands by the Forest Reserves act pass d at the last session of the Dominion parliament is the result of a movement which began about the year 1893. At that time the Minister of the Interior took up the question of forest reservations, and a report thereon by the crown timber agent at Winnipeg.

The agent submitted several r commendations in regard to reservations in the province of Manitoba, and it was finally decided that the policy of setting apart reserves should be adopted. The first reservations made w r Turtle Mountain reserve in south rn Manitoba, and Riding Mountain and Lake Manitoba West reserves in northern Manitoba, which were set apart by order of the Minister of Interior on the 15th of July, 1895.

Other reservations were mad from time to time, but as these res rves were set apart merely by ord r of the minister, lands could be withdrawn therefrom by the same authority and it was considered advisable that a more permanent character should be given to the reservations. With that end in view it was decided by the government that the reserv s should b set apart by act of parliament. This has now been done and no lands can be withdrawn from the reserv s except by special act of parliament.

The purposes for which the reserves are established are to protect the headwaters of the streams and so ensure a constant water supply; to provide a supply of wood for the settlers, and to serve such additional beneficial purposes as may be brought about by the influence of large areas of for st protecting the country from winds or other adverse climatic influences.

Of the reserves situated in Manitoba, the Turtle Mountain timber reserve covers a district of somewhat elevated land covered mainly by aspen and balsam poplar. It also includes a number of lakes and will serve the double purpose of being a pleasure resort and a source of supply for the wood and smaller timber required by the settlers. This res rv has been somewhat severely cut part of it has been burnt. One serious diffuculty in protecting it has been the fact that fires frequently come from south of the international bouhdary along which the reserve is located, and ov r which the forest ranger has no control.

The Riding Mountain, Duck Mountain and Porcupine Hills reserves, in the northern pert of Manitoba, are all of the same general character. The land is high and broken with ravines These tracts formed a part of the best wooded portion of the Province of Manitoba, and have been lumbered over for a number of years. The principal spacies of trees are spruce aspen and balsam poplar, white birch.

Some of the lands within these reserves are still held under timber license, and the timber limits are being operated at the present time. Part of these reserves, spcially the Riding Mountain and Duck Mountain reserves have been burnt over, the fires coming in mainly from the west side. There are however still consid rable areas of mature green timber in the reserves. They will be a very important factor as the source of supply for timber for the settlers in these localities, and will serve the purpose of protecting the headquarters of the streams. In fact the greater part of the streams flowing through the Province of Manitoba have their headquarters within these reserves.

Lake Manitoba West Reserve was timbered with spruce, poplar and tamarac. It has been largely denuded of timber.

Porcupine reserve No.2 is located in the province of Saskatchewan and has been mentioned as a separate reserves in Saskatchewan contain most Manitoba and is of practically of the same character.

Moose Mountain and Beaver Hill reserves in Saskatchewan contain mostly aspen and balsam poplar. They are located in the prairie country and therefore are very important for the supply of the districts in which they are located. The settlers come from long distances ot obtain wood for fuel and construction purposes from these reserves.

In the province of Alberta there is a reserve at the west rn end of the Cypress Hills. This is in the middle of what is generally known as the semi-arid district of the west. There was considerable timber in the valleys of the western slopes of these hills but it has nearly all been cut although there is still a mill operating in this district. The timber is mainly Pinus Murrayana, and if it is given proper protection there will, so far as present indications show, be no serious difficulty about the natural reproduction of the forest.

The Cooking Lake Reserve in the same province is situated southeast of Edmonton and includes a tract of lake and rough land. The land is not at all suited for agricultural purposes but there has been considerable settlement in the vicinity and fires have run through most of the reserve. The timber is spruce and poplar.

The Kootenay Lakes Forest Reserve is on the eastern solpe of the Rocky Mountains near the international boundary. The area is small and its chief value is as a park. There has been considerable prospecting for petroleum in the vicinity of this reserve.

In the Railway Belt in British Columbia, which is the dry belt of British Columbia. This is the central portion of the province and the rain coming from the ocean is precipitated on the mountains lying between the coast and the interior, with the result that the rainfall in the Kamloops district is small. These reserves have therefore been established mainly for the purpose of conserving the water supply. The hills covered by these reserves rise to a height of something like 6,000 feet, and are generally too elevated to be of us for successful farming operations. Their influence on the flow of the streams is however very important for agricultural operations in the valleys below, as in order to ensure successful agriculture it is necessary to depend to a great r or lesser extent on the application of water to the land by artificial means. The principal species of trees found in these reserves are the Douglas fir and black pine (Pinus Murrayana.)

The Donald Forest Reserv lying farther east in the Province of British Columbia is not so important for water supply but is in a splendid timber and scenic district.

CATTLE BREEDERS MEET

Calgary, Oct. 26—The directors of the Alberta Cattle Breeder's Association held their meeting this morning to arrange for the sale and show of stock next spring. The date of the sale was not agreed on until the executive from that body confers with the horsemen who are meeting this afternoon.

The only important alteration which will make the next sale different from those of other years, will be the fact that no females will be offered for sale. The reason for this change is that the cows and heifers do not look at their best in the spring and are consequently very often sold at too low a figure in comparison with the worth of the animal. At the annual meeting next summer the question of the advisability of holding a fall sale of females will be discussed. If it is found advisable to hold a sale in the fall, this method will be adopted.

----COAL----

A SECOND CROW'S NEST

Coal is actually today the greatest commodity of the world. With coal we run our mills and factories and our great railroads; with coal we propel our ships, provide our navies, and warm our homes; with coal we generate and produce electricity, with a few exceptions, where water power is available, but there are not very many, Niagara Falls, however; with coal we produce iron, copper, lead, silver, gold and all other metals that we need, and must have, because all of those metals are to be found mixed in with the rock and in the ore.

Without coal we could not make coke, and coke made from a certain kind of high class bituminous coal is the only fuel yet known to man that produces a heat intense enough to melt ore and hard rock into a liquid, by which process we are enabled to extract the metals we need.

England would not be the great world power she is today if it was not for her inexhaustible supply of coal.

Coal is the basis of all industrial and commercial wealth.

Coal-mining in British Columbia has always been a great success. It is a great deal like diamond mining in South Africa—a bonanza of the first magnitude.

The great mountain barrier of the Rockies shuts out the eastern coal, leaving the great Pacific coast to be supplied by the British Columbia fields, excepting a small tonnage from the State of Washington of a very inferior quality; in fact, so poor that the United States navy of the Pacific division get all of their supply from the Dunsmuir Coal Mines on Vancouver Island, and pay the duty on it, but neither the Washington nor the Vancouver Island coal is of any use for furnace and smelters' coke, because the coal from both of these places contains a great deal of sulphur, and does not make good smelters' coke.

Nevertheless Dunsmuir made millions after millions every year from mining coal, and died a few years ago the richest man in Canada. He made it all from coal, and his mines will be productive for generations to come, and are worth more today than thirty-five years ago, when first opened up.

OPPORTUNITY.

To see it, and grasp it in time, makes a man the master of his destiny. DO YOU WANT TO MAKE MONEY HONESTLY, AND LOTS OF IT? Would you like to become interested in a coal proposition in British Columbit, and make $10,000 in three to four years from now on an investment of $250,000? We offer you the opportunity to do this.

You have $200.00, $500.00 or $1,000.00, whatever the case may be, in bank, drawing 3 per cent. interest yearly. Does this satisfy you, when you can many times double your money in one year in in investment like this we offer you?

PUT YOUR SAVINGS IN COAL. It is safe, and as good as Government bonds. There are no "ifs" about coal mining. There never was known a failure in coal in British Columbia, if quantity and quality and shipping facilities were assured, and the business was managed right and honestly.

The price of coal and its commercial value is always advancing from year to year, whereas the demand is increasing enormously every year.

Millions and millions of dollars have been made in coal mining year after year by all those engaged in the business, and to prove this we refer to the statistics on hand for the year of 1902, where is is shown that nine of the leading bituminous coal mines in the United States and Canada made the enormous profits of $87,650,687 (one year's earnings).

There is no field of investment more absolutely safe and profitable than coal mining.

We now offer to the public 100,000 shares of the British Columbia Amalgamated Coal Company's treasury stock at the low rate of

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER SHARE.

The par value of this stock is one dollar, and is fully paid and non-assessable, and shareholders are exempt from personal liability. Once paid and secured it is settled for ever.

This Amalgamated Coal Company controls 17,500 ACRES OF COAL LAND in Nicola Valley, B.C., and, according to coal experts' reports, this great area is underlaid with inexhaustible quantities of high-class bituminous coal, the best for steam, blacksmithing and cooking purposes, estimated to contain approximately 1,400,000,000 TONS OF COAL.

TWO RAILROADS.

are now building into the Nicola Valley, the Canadian Pacific and the V. V and E. (Great Northern) and the C. P. R. has already constructed and completed a line from Spence's Bridge, on Thompson's River, to Nicola Lake, a distance of about fifty miles, whereas the V. V. and E. are rushing the work as fast as money and labor can do it, and it is expected to reach Nicola by Christmas.

This is certainly a rare opportunity for the small investors. For $250.00 you can now buy 1,000 shares of the Amalgamated Coal Stock, which in a few years may pay you a yearly revenue or income of $10,000, figuring the dividend at $10.00 a share (the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company paid a dividend last year of $10.60 a share). This is an illustration to show what a few hundred dollars invested in coal stock means to investors. The Crow's Nest stock was offered to the people in the year 1898 at ten cents a share, and is today worth over $300.00 or $300,000 for 1,000 shares. You can get 1,000 shares of our stock today for $250.00, which may be worth as much as the Crow's Nest is today if you hold it long enough. Do you realize what this means for you? That the British Columbia Amalgamated Coal Company's stock will reach the $100.00 mark in from six to seven years from now is the belief of those who have seen and examined the properties and are familiar with the local conditions in that country. Get in on the ground floor. Act quickly, and do it now. Do not ask your neighbor for his advice. Use and act on your own judgment. It will soon be taken. Call early or write, and we will give you any further information that you may desire.

BETTER THAN LIFE INSURANCE.

A source of income that will last as long as you live. An asset that you can leave behind you for your friends and relatives. Have you a wife, a dear child, a sister, brother, or friend, whose welfare you have at heart? If so, why not invest $50, $100, or $200, or any sum you can afford, in this coal stock, and get a certificate issued in their names; that will ge them an income for life.

TWO YEARS FROM NOW.

the stock should begin to pay handsome dividends, and in another year or two may have a cash valuation on the market from the dividends it then will pay of at least $10.00 per share. This calculation is based on sound and conservative business judgment, and on well-tried laws of natural growth. It is quite safe to say that when the Amalgamated Coal Company shall have fully equipped its four properties on Cold Water River, in Nicola Valley, B.C., and has built up a market for its product, and can produce coal and coke on a large scale, which may require six to seven years to accomplish (taking the Crow's Nest Coal Company as an example), this stock should then be worth on its own merit, from the dividend it then will pay, $100.00 per share.

Opportunity knocks once at every man's door. To see it and grasp it in time is the keynote to success and wealth. This is meant for you. This is your greatest opportunity.

Fathers, mothers and guardians, who have the welfare of your children at heart, and want to provide for their future needs, write us for information, and investigate our proposition carefully. You will thank us later for the advice given. Ask or write for printed prospects and reports, etc. We will show you samples of the coal and of the coke, and the assays of the coal from Government officials and other authorities.

RECOMMENDED BY BANKERS AND MERCHANTS.

as the safest and best investment on the market today, which is being offered to the public at large. We want men and women of moderate means to get interested in this great enterprise, and to get in now, on its first inception.

Remember, for $250 you will get one thousand shares of Amalgamated Coal, which will secure for you and your family a source of income, and may make you independently rich. Remember, 1,000 shares of Crow's Nest Pass Coal is today worth $285,000 and, brings a yearly revenue of over $10,000.00.

PROTECTION TO SMALL SHAREHOLDERS IS SECURED BY THE LAWS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Under British Columbia laws every Coal Company mining for coal and oil in that country must file with the Minister of Finance, a certified copy of their articles of incorporation, of a foreign company, and also of the by-laws; in other words, the company has to register under the laws of British Columbia, before they can transact business within the borders of the Province, and produce coal, and their books are subject to inspection every three months by the Government agent, to whom a sworn statement must be made, and a tax of five cents per ton paid to the Government for every ton of coal mined. This protects the small stockholders, as everyone interested, whether he may be the owner of 10,000 shares or only 100 shares, has the right to know at all times just what the company is doing, and there is no possible way of the company adopting, with any success, a "freeze-out" game. The Government being an interested party, much greater protection is afforded the small investor than in any other country.

We cordially invite you to call at our office, No. 61-62 Confederation Life building, Toronto. If you cannot call, please write us, and we will mail you prospectus, reports, maps, etc., that will give you all information you may desire.
